

A Message from the President & CEO

75 Years and Going Strong!

In addition to throwing a giant party last summer (hope you were there!)... Easterseals Washington employees & volunteers celebrated by doing more of what we love – Service, of course! ❤️

Our 3 Child Development Centers got facility facelifts and investments in teacher compensation & training. We are including more children with disabilities, and we are preparing all students for lifelong learning.

We doubled our therapy hours and added community-based options at the Olympic Peninsula Autism Center.

Our adult health & recreation programs bounced back both in-person and virtually, bringing skill building and daily engagement to hundreds of folks.

Our Workforce Development's footprint added a couple of toes. Adults and transitioning high school students are now getting great jobs in Kitsap, King, and Clark counties. Our new Comcast-funded Digital Literacy Project is bringing tech equity and job readiness to those who have historically been left on the wrong side of the digital divide. Read a great success story on Page 4.

And – Did we have happy campers? You bet we did! We served 250 children and adults in 2022, and we will serve more in 2023 with Camp Stand By Me's new roofs (thank you Patriot Roofing & Friends).

Year 76 will be even more exciting. Spoiler alerts include a new Virtual Reality Job Training Program, expansion of our Digital Literacy Project to new populations, and fun and furry farm animals at Camp.

Experience joy with us – Join our Board of Directors, commit to recurring donations, leave a legacy... we are making an amazing impact for Washington families.

Thank you!

Meet Jamie

Innovative New Digital Literacy Program

A one-year grant from the Comcast NBCUniversal Foundation was awarded to Easterseals Washington in 2022 to develop a digital literacy and employment training program. It aims to train young adults with disabilities in digital literacy skills and place them in paid internships in their community to help them gain professional experience.

As a Digital Literacy Program participant, Jamie overcame his social anxiety to attend classes in our Comcast Lift Zone Lab with new students and staff. He focused on the lessons and learning how to use his very own new Chromebook computer. When asked what he liked best about the program, Jaime shared that he enjoyed the practice interviews, as interviewing can be stressful. He then put his new computer and social skills to work at the SEA Discovery Center, a marine environmental education facility operated by Western Washington University, where he performed his paid internship. It just so happens that Jaime's favorite animal is the jellyfish – and his internship required that he test the temperatures and pressures in the aquariums, enter the data on a computer, and take care of brand-new baby jellyfish!

Easterseals is leading the way to full equity, inclusion, and access by enriching education, enhancing health, expanding employment, and elevating community.

Easterseals Washington Celebrates 75 Years!

Our incredible supporters came together to raise funds for Easterseals Washington's programs and services at the Annual Benefit Dinner.
